C. difficile is an anaerobic Gram-positive bacterium implicated in antibiotic-associated diarrhoea. C. difficile toxins A and B have been associated with disease outbreaks and therefore rapid and accurate detection of these toxins is important to ensure patient safety. An immunochromatographic assay using a reporter antibody has been evaluated for the detection of C. difficile toxins A and B. Test results were read in under 2 minutes using a mobile reader and visually scored as positive or negative. The assay was evaluated using naturally-contaminated food, stool, and extracted spiked food and stool. The test was shown to be sensitive and specific to both toxins A and B, with an LOD of 2ng/ml and a Tox A / Tox B ratio of 1:1./* * Copyright 2017 Crown Copyright * * Licensed under the Apache License, Version 2.0 (the "License"); * you may not use this file except in compliance with the License. * You may obtain a copy of the License at * * * * Unless required by applicable law or agreed to in writing, software * distributed
